Dear parent / Guardian,

Thank you – you are doing a brilliant job!

As we approach half term, I wanted to write to you to thank you for supporting your children with their home learning. We are very aware of how much of a challenge this is, especially when you are trying to manage work or the learning of more than one child doing different activities. I know that I would be finding it a real challenge if my children were still of school age.

The work you are doing is making a difference, it will mean that when the children do return, staff will be able to move forward with their learning rather than covering the work again. I understand that for the children it is hard for them to keep going with their learning, please keep praising and encouraging them.

We are really missing the children that are not in school and hope that they will return soon. The Prime Minister is due to make an announcement at the end of half term, hopefully he will allow children to return from the 8th of March. That will mean that there will be two weeks of home learning after the holiday... fingers crossed!

For the children that have been doing the daily home learning, they will need a break this half term, and so will their parents – although the routine is probably helping at home.

Easter egg models

It has been a tradition at Springhead for children to make egg models and bring them into school the week before Easter. It was a shame that this could not happen last year. The imagination and quality of the models that the children and families have always amazes me. We will therefore have the competition again this year and the children can bring their models into school the week before the Easter holiday (should we not be back, they can send photographs in). There will be a prize for the winner in each class.

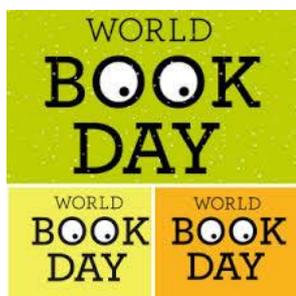

This is advance notice of the competition and allows the children to start planning! We will also hopefully hold the egg rolling competition on Thursday 1st April.

World book day - Friday 5th March.

For those children who are learning at home, we will be celebrating by sharing books and stories from other cultures and we will sign-post lots of online events during the week. You could send the class teacher a video of your child reading part of their favourite book or a photo of them holding the book with a sentence about why it is their favourite.

For those of you who are in school, they can bring a favourite book, dressing gown and teddy for a book sharing day on Friday 5th March.

Kind regards,
B. Anderson
